LECTURE SERIES 2010-11

Wednesday, Sept 15, 2010, 12:30 pm-1:30 pm

UIC College of Medicine West, Room 221

(Southeast Corner of Polk & Wolcott)

Health Care: Right or Privilege

What happened to the 'right to health care' during last year's healthcare reform debate? What does its exclusion from the public debate mean for healthcare reform and progressive democracy?

PROFESSOR DANIEL SWARTZMAN
UIC SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH

Daniel Swartzman is an Associate Professor of Health Policy and Administration at the UIC School of Public Health, where he teaches and does research in the areas of public health ethics, law and policy, public administration, and leadership. For the last 30 years, Professor Swartzman has taught "Social Ethics and Public Health" to graduate students at the School. He has made numerous presentations and guest lectures on health ethics and is currently writing a book on this subject. He is also currently the Program Director for UIC's Certificate in Public Health Management, an online offering of four graduate courses.

* Free Lunch for the first 40 attendees *******
